Individualized learning

Valley View School: alternative education

Valley View High School is becoming an alternative educational opportunity for students of the Chaffey Union High School District, serving Upland, Montclair, Cucamonga, Alta Loma and Ontario.

The district's continuation high school has an individualized approach to learning that is so popular with some students that space is a problem at the campus at 1801 E. Sixth St., Ontario.

Present enrollment is 350 students. Many other students are on a waiting list by self- and school-referral.

Eighty per cent of Valley View students say they wouldn't want to go to another school and even more agree that continuation education has helped them. Almost 78 per cent rate their work at their former high school as below average, and 85 per cent think their efforts have improved at Valley View, according to a district spokesman.

The concept of continuation high school was established by permissive legislation in the 30's for teen-agers who had to work to support themselves and their families. But most school districts did not establish separate campuses.

In the mid-60's, a new law required that most districts provide continuation school for problem students and those suspended from their home school. That law had given an unfortunate and distorted image to continuation high schools as the dumping grounds for incorrigibles, the spokesman said.

Valley View students are aware of this image and displeased by it, he said. In a recent survey 74 per cent of them indicated that the community needs to know more about the school or that the school needs more good publicity.

"Everybody thinks it's for bad kids" was a common student comment.

Educators' growing enthusiasm for the alternative education concept is giving a new image and purpose to continuation high school, the spokesman said. A different approach is needed to reach the nonconformist student who doesn't learn up to his capabilities in the regular high school program.

The Chaffey Board of Education supports alternative education at the district's continuation school, and the staff of 12 teachers and 2 counselors is focusing program development in this direction.

This is especially true since the school moved from Ontario High School to its own campus two years ago, said Principal Monroe Lair. The facility was designed as a complete school intended to meet all educational needs of its students.

The staff has prepared an extensive curriculum guide to reflect the alternative education goal and an individualized approach in preparation for the April visit by the Western Accreditation Committee for High Schools and Colleges.

One example of a growing and improving program at Valley View is the media center, which incorporates library, career center, and Regional Occupational Program (ROP) services.

In January alone, 258 students used the career center which was started just this year, Counselor Bob Brown said. Teachers are now learning to use it to enhance their academic programs, he added.

Brown is also working with English teacher Alice Stiffler to organize a recreation program. Lack of such a program was the most frequently mentioned school deficiency on the student survey.

Upland High School celebrates Black History Week

Upland High School celebrated its first Black History Week this year to introduce students to "soul" food, musical instruments and important black people.

More students participated than expected, said Alder G. Dixon, one of 13 students who planned the week to "teach everyone a little Black awareness."

Soul food and an assembly were the high points of the week, he said. The lunch provided free by the black students, included barbecued pigs feet, potato salad, chitlings, red beans and rice, collard and mustard greens, cornbread and sweet potato pie. Students were most interested in trying the barbecued pigs feet.

The assembly featured a film on black instruments and speaker from Mt. San Antonio College. Black students also arranged a library display of cultural artifacts and black arts.

The display included such important blacks as Daniel Payne, the first black college president; Ralph Bunche, winner of the Nobel peace prize; Mahalia Jackson, gospel singer; and Henry Highland Garnet, U.S. minister to Liberia.

The students plan to sponsor Black History Week again. They hope to form a Black Students Union and raise money for a dance and well-known speakers for next year.

Dixon said this is the first year the high school has had enough black students to stage the week. Students paid for the food and also did the cooking themselves. "It is a lot of work but it's worth it," Dixon said.

Council delays billboard action

By LYNNE LOCKE

Upland City Council Tuesday night sent a proposed billboard amendment back to the planning commission for minor revisions regarding the amortization period and authorized City Manager Lee Travers to approach the chamber of commerce regarding licensing billboard.

The amendment recommended by the Planning Commission set the amortization time for billboards at 14 years, retroactive to 1970 when billboards were declared nonconforming. Billboards would have to be removed by February 1984 under that amendment.

The council directed the planning commission to set the effective date at the time of the proposed amendment rather than retroactive to 1970. Under changes directed by the council, billboards would have to be removed by 1985, 10 years after the effective date of the new amendment.

Council members George Gibson and Ina Petokas voted to limit the amortization time to five years, but the motion was defeated by the remainder of the council.

Since billboards will remain for 10 years, the council authorized Travers to work with the chamber of commerce on licensing billboards as other businesses in the city are licensed. The licensing question had been postponed until an amortization period could be set.

The council also approved a conditional use permit for a self-service gas station at the southwest corner of Mountain Avenue and Ninth Street. The self-service station would meet the need for competitively priced fuel in an area of the city that is growing, according to owner Jim Kelber.

Mrs. Petokas and Gibson said there already are too many service stations on Mountain Avenue. Mrs. Petokas said she feared more gas stations would be abandoned if competition were increased and noted that a station at Foothill Boulevard and Mountain Avenue already provides self-service.

The council has a duty to encourage free competition that will benefit the community," commented Councilman

Hal Bailin. The independent station's prices may show other stations they need to become competitive, he added. The council approved the conditional use permit with Gibson dissenting.

In other action Tuesday night, the council:

— Approved the appointment of Walt Reardon, a certified public accountant, to fill the vacancy on the Housing Authority Board created by the resignation of the Rev. Ray Wirth. Wirth resigned to become Housing Authority manager.

— Set a public hearing for 7 p.m. March 31 to consider street improvements proposed on Mountain Avenue. The hearing was requested by Hensley-Torta Real Estate of Ontario which opposes the proposed improvements. State and federal officials will review the minutes of the hearing and make the final determination, according to City Engineer Fred Blanchard.

— Continued until March 3 consideration of a tentative tract map for 11 acres west of San Antonio Avenue between 15th and 16th streets to allow the developer and an adjacent homeowner to reach agreement on sharing costs of street improvements.

— Directed the city staff and Fire Department to investigate the potential fire hazard caused by dust from Upland Feed and Fuel Co. falling on adjacent buildings. Jack Isom, speaking for the owner of the Grove Theater, said the grain dust creates the hazard of a flash fire and attracts pigeons causing a health hazard.

— Approved a resolution supporting Senate Bill 312 which would exempt federally funded temporary employees from mandatory membership in the Public Employees Retirement System. Using a portion of the federal funds for retirement benefits the temporary employees won't use "seems illogical," Travers noted in a report to the council.

— Approved the first reading of an ordinance removing from the city code guidelines on conflict of interest. City Attorney Donald Maroney said the present code duplicates the Moscone Act and Proposition 9 which both deal with conflict of interest.

Upland High School photography class

A pensive teen-ager, barrio graffiti, a plant pod and wind chimes are subjects of award-winning photographs taken by Upland High School students.

When photography instruction started at the school four years ago, few people expected much interest in the said instructor Jeff Cole. Cole now teaches photography five periods a day. Many teenagers enroll in his two adult school sections. "If I had 10 classes a day, they would all be filled," Cole said.

The course is popular despite its heavy assignment load because it focuses on creativity. "Every kid has creative talent, but so many of them were ill-trained or ill-informed in early life that they are afraid of painting or drawing," Cole noted. "Photography is a way to be creative without having to draw."

For a few students, photography becomes a career choice, but for the others the experience is not wasted, Cole said. Photography is one of the most popular hobbies in the United States. Cole estimated that at least a quarter of his former students are actively involved in photography as a leisure activity.

Photography is a one-semester course, but skilled students may enroll in an advanced section. A few outstanding students work with Cole on independent studies.

Students learn by doing, not by listening to lectures. They work on their own projects, leaving Cole free to give individual attention to those who need it, he said.

Instruction ranges from camera basics to photo development and enlargement, and emphasizes composition and design.

Students first create photographs, shadow-like photographs made by placing objects on light-sensitive paper and exposing the design to light.

Corona-Norco pact

Chaffey urges annexation to district

Chaffey College's Board of Trustees will meet on March 6 with a group of Corona-Norco citizens to discuss annexation of their area to this district or Riverside's.

The issue of which community college to join will be decided by Corona-Norco voters in the election of May 27.

The special meeting was set for 7 p.m. at the board's regular monthly session Tuesday at the request of Corona citrus grower William M. Smith.

Smith, a former Corona city councilman, said there was enough interest in his area to warrant such a meeting and that he would notify concerned voters. The place for the meeting will be announced later.

In its February session here, the board reviewed and informally endorsed a position statement on the Corona-Norco issue recommended by the Chaffey College administration.

In substance, the statement contained a four-point commitment contingent on the annexation election carrying in favor of Chaffey College.

Spelled out in the statement was a pledge to extend the Associate of Arts Degree program and other services to Corona-Norco residents via the community education center concept.

The college established a community education center in downtown Corona Dec. 26 after testing the concept with a pilot center in Upland. Day and evening classes are conducted at both centers. More such centers are planned for the academic year of 1975-76.

Outlined in the position statement were these four benefits accruing to Corona-Norco citizens should they elect to go with Chaffey:

—"A college credit program of studies... equal in quality to the campus program, leading to the Associate of Arts Degree with a general education major. All courses... could be completed in the Corona-Norco area without the need... to attend the Alta Loma campus..."

—"A wide variety of adult education classes, lectures and forums in cooperation with the Corona-Norco High School District... the cities of Corona and Norco, local churches and other organizations."

—"Community service classes and programs through the Corona-Norco Community Education Center to residents of that area."

—"Registration, counseling and other support services through the center, thereby eliminating the need for students who attend classes at the center to come to the Alta Loma campus for these services."

The administration here indicated that it would be necessary for other than general education majors to attend the Alta Loma campus for laboratory and other specialized classes.

Other reasons cited in the position statement for residents of the Corona-Norco Unified School District to vote for annexation to Chaffey rather than Riverside are:

—"Corona-Norco residents would have a lower tax rate if they annex to Chaffey College."

—"A north-south freeway is under construction and when completed will provide easy access to the Alta Loma campus for Corona-Norco students."

—"The Chaffey College campus has a rural setting with an openness that is unique, including free and ample parking in areas close to classrooms. The college also provides bus transportation to (its) campus."

Whatever the election outcome, the board's adoption of a proposed attendance agreement, May 21, for the fiscal years of 1974 through 1979 still stands.

That action, urging an inter-district contract with Riverside, is reflected as follows in the position statement:

—"Students taking 6 semester units or less living in the Riverside Community College District or Chaffey Community College District be allowed to attend the community college district of their choice without obtaining a written individual permit."

—"Students attending Chaffey College prior to effective annexation date be permitted to continue to complete their educational objective."

—"This agreement be a continuing one beyond 1979, subject to termination with one year prior notice."

Chess class starts March 6 in Upland

Deductive Logic through Chess, an adult education class offered by Chaffey College Community Education, will begin March 6 from 7 to 10 p.m. at the Old Public Library Building, 123 E. "D" St., Upland. Instructor will be Howard York.

Chess, more than almost any other human endeavor, involves the application of strict deductive logic in an effort to produce success, according to experts. In chess, victory depends on a player's superior capacity to apply basic principles in a clear logical manner.

Registration may be accomplished at the first class attended. The course is tuition-free and non-graded.

Cal Poly's 'Steam bath'

To produce a miracle onstage is only one of the challenges which must be met by Michael Devine, Cal Poly, Pomona's new drama department staff member in charge of stage sets and lighting. Devine came to the university fall quarter last year as lecturer in drama and technical director, with the responsibility for designing and building scenery for mainstage productions.

Currently this involves the winter season production of "Steambath," which opened Feb. 14 in the university theater, a play in which Devine not only had to produce a rock pit emitting steam and a real water-producing shower and sink on the set, but also had to make visual and audio arrangements for an onstage miracle.

Devine, at 34, has a background that enables him to come up with more than one miracle when it comes to stagecraft — 16 years experience in set production work on college campuses and in commercial theater. For the past five years he has been a free-lance production designer for television, motion pictures and the stage in the Los Angeles area, with much of his work done with the Music Center productions.

In 1971 Devine was art director for a series of 15 one-hour television dramas — Hollywood Television Theater — made for public broadcasting network. In 1970 he was responsible for the sets and lighting in the Mark Taper Forum production of Story Theater, which won the 1970 Los Angeles Critics Circle Award, and for the Broadway production of the same show, which won the Antoinette Perry award.

In 1968 his sets and lighting design for the South Coast Repertory Theatre's show, "America Hurry" won the L.A. Drama Critic's award for the best production design of that year.

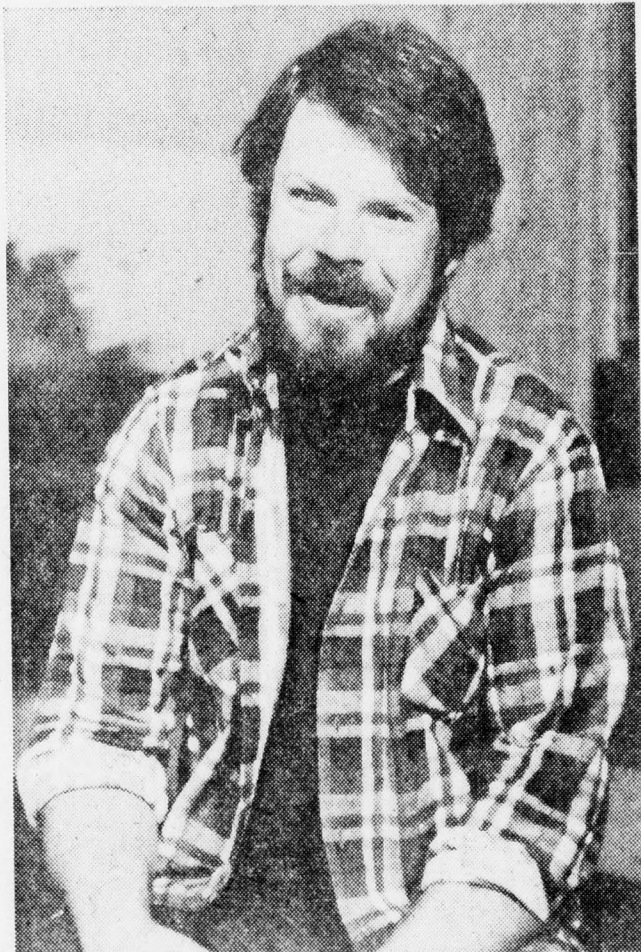

Devine was instructor of theater arts at Pomona College from 1966-1969, and before that was instructor of stage design at Circle in The Square, New York, teaching a professionally oriented design course for experienced designers. During his teaching years he remained involved in set designing for commercial television, motion pictures and the stage.

Devine attended Claremont Men's College from 1959-61 and received his bachelor of arts degree from San Francisco State University in 1963.

The settings for Cal Poly's "Steambath" had another special challenge in that the sets and the audience are located together on the stage of the theater, with the limited-to-150 persons audience in a circle around the settings.

Devine has designed sets that involve the dramatic action and the audience, running the steam bath pipes over the heads of the spectators and extending the building walls and windows behind the audience as well as in front of them.

"Steambath" continues Thursday through Saturday, Feb. 20-22 and Feb. 27-March 1. Curtain time is 8 p.m. Admission is $2.25.

Scholarships given at rite

Virginia Paul of Corona and Barbara Jean Albertson of Yucaipa are the recipients of $200 scholarships presented by the Pomona Valley Chapter, Executives' Secretaries, Inc.

The awards were made during the chapter's installation meeting held recently at Red Hill Country Club, Cucamonga.

A second year student at Chaffey College, Miss Paul is working towards an A.A. degree as a legal secretary. She has completed four quarters of course work and has earned 45 units. She has been on the dean's honor list each quarter. Miss Albertson received the Katherine Chesworth Memorial Scholarship, given annually to a student at California State College, San Bernardino. A senior administration major with a grade point average of 4.0, she intends to pursue a career in banking and finance, with a B.S. degree in business. Jean T. Payne, associate professor of business education at Chaffey College, attended the meeting with Miss Paul. Accompanying Miss Albertson was Dr. Sheldon Bockman, school of administration, California State College, San Bernardino. The recipients were presented by Marjorie Zuer.

As a surprise program feature, Shirley Huston, retiring president, entertained with some vocal selections.

Chapel fund

Donations accepted for building

A Jerry L. Pettis V.A. Memorial Chapel Fund has been established in honor of the congressman, who was killed Friday in an airplane crash.

Friends said the Pettis family has asked that donations be made to the fund instead of sending flowers to the funeral, which will be held Tuesday in Loma Linda.

The chapel will be part of the Veteran's Administration hospital now under construction at Loma Linda University. Congressman Pettis was instrumental in establishing the hospital, which is expected to be completed in 1977.

Those wishing to contribute to the fund may send donations to the Jerry L. Pettis V.A. Memorial Chapel Fund, P.O. Box 426, San Bernardino, 92402.

District defines rights to see child's file

The Ontario-Montclair School District Board of Trustees moved Thursday to put into policy parent rights of access to student records.

The policy incorporates recent federal "clean up" legislation that eliminated earlier fears that a Nov. 21 federal law (The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act) precluded police and probation authorities from obtaining attendance and other information from school authorities.

The new Ontario-Montclair district policy, which must undergo a second reading before being officially adopted, notes parents and guardians have a right to review all their student's educational records. This includes psychological evaluations, test scores, grades and other information in cumulative record folders, I.Q. scores and all teacher or principal comments placed in the permanent files.

"The parent shall have the right to challenge and seek removal of any portion of the education record he deems to be inaccurate, misleading or that is regarded by the parent to be an unsubstantiated conclusion or inference..." the policy states.

Police, attendance review boards, probation officers and other law enforcement agencies are permitted to obtain attendance data, a student's home address and other general information. But these agencies are not allowed to obtain I.Q. scores or discipline-action information placed in a student's permanent file.

When the Nov. 11 federal law granting parent access to student records became effective, several local law enforcement, probation officers and representatives of the new county attendance review board expressed concern that the law would cut them off from necessary student information, particularly attendance records.

Dr. Jack J. Jones, Ontario-Montclair superintendent, said subsequent federal legislation made it clear these agencies still have access to this type of information.

In other action, the board nominated incumbent trustees Richard H. Pearson and Samuel J. Di Giovanni to serve four more years on the board.

There were no challengers filing to oppose the two on the March 4 ballot, and Thursday's nomination was a routine move required by law.

Dr. Jones estimated not having an election would save the district $4,000 to $5,000. He also expressed regret that the elective process wasn't exercised.

The board called for an adjourned meeting on Feb. 27. At the 4 p.m. meeting, Dr. Jones will present a report of projected pupil enrollment and staffing recommendations.

Ostomy to be topic at seminar

Gibson, M.D., surgeon; ileo-conduit surgery, William Karow, M.D., urologist, and various appliance products utilized for the ostomate will be presented by Donna M. Kratz, R.N., and Rita Dana, R.N. Registration will be from noon to 1 p.m. in Aita Auditorium. Deadline to register is Monday. There will be a charge. Registrations may be sent to Inservice Education Workshop Account, San Antonio Community Hospital, 999 San Bernardino Road, Upland, Attention: Betty J. Raab, R.N.

WINNERS — Walter Schroeter (center) assistant vice president and manager of the Upland office of Pomona First Federal Savings and Loan Assn., presents checks to the two winners in a contest to guess the amount of money on the "money house." Martha Kettenhofen of Claremont and Richard Roberts of Upland each guessed the same amount, one cent less than the actual amount. The contest was one of the special features for the opening of the company's new office building at the southeast corner of Foothill Boulevard and Euclid Avenue, Upland.

'Caesar' to be picked

The eighth-annual Bosses Night of the Pomona Valley Chapter of the National Association of Women in Construction (WIC) will be held Saturday at Subaro's Italian Gardens, 4620 Holt Blvd., Montclair.

Cocktails will be served at 6 p.m. and dinner will follow at 7:15. Pat Graham, chairman, has announced the theme as "The Feast of Bacchus."

One of the WIC's employers will be crowned as "Caesar" during the evening. Dancing will follow.

Women in the construction industry are invited to attend with their bosses. Reservations are being taken by Shirley Allyn at 622-9961 or 593-3015.

National Minister of the year named

The Rev. Casimero Lapura of The Philippines, has been named "National Minister of the Year" of World Evangelism Inc., it was announced by Dr. Morris Cerullo, founder-director of World Evangelism.

One of the main thrusts of the worldwide World Evangelism ministry is the training and sponsoring of national ministers in countries around the world to enable them to effectively evangelize their nations for Christ.

Rev. Lapura was one of more than 65 nationals who attended the 10th Annual World Deeper Life Conference of Morris Cerullo World Evangelism in San Diego January 7-11. Other countries represented at the conference included the Soviet Union, Pakistan, India, Korea, Chile, South Africa, Nigeria, Guatemala and Norway.

Under World Evangelism's National Evangelists Crusades program, Dr. Cerullo personally has trained more than 75,000 nationals in various countries of the world, many of which not only went on to hold massive evangelistic crusades but in turn trained other evangelists in Dr. Cerullo's effective principles.

During 1974, the NEC Department of World Evangelism sponsored 641 national evangelists crusades with reported conversions numbering 412,561. More than 300 new congregations were begun in eleven countries.

Rev. Lapura has been acquainted with Morris Cerullo since 1959. A member of the International Board of Directors of World Evangelism, he resigned his position as District Superintendent of the Assemblies of God so that he could devote full time to evangelization of his country. Rev. Lapura supervises 14 evangelists and has established 34 churches. He is president of a Bible School which currently has 46 men and women being trained for the ministry.

Rev. Lapura has conducted 42 crusades and four mini-Deeper Life Conferences. He is planning similar conferences each month during 1975. His wife, Dulce, is also a supervisor with the NEC program.

Rev. Lapura was presented with a perpetual trophy by Dr. Cerullo during the San Diego Conference for his outstanding work in the Philippines.

Pomona Valley Council of Churches SSI conference set

The Pomona Valley Council of Churches in conjunction with Chaffey College Community Education will present a training conference on supplemental security income (SSI) noon to 2:30 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 25 at the Salvation Army, 1412 S. Euclid Ave., Ontario.

The conference will begin with a luncheon and a time of becoming acquainted with one another and the leaders.

The conference is open to anyone who wishes to have complete information about SSI. However, specifically, the council is urging each church and synagogue in the area served by the Council of Churches (an area extending from San Dimas and Walnut to Chino, and Alta Loma) to send its pastor or rabbi and two laypersons who will receive training in: how to help people find out if they are eligible for additional money through Social Security; how to make application for these benefits; how to find out what other benefits SSI recipients may receive; who to turn to for help in problem areas.

It is the hope of the Council of Churches that having trained people in each congregation will mean that all of the people who need this kind of help will have a readily available place to find answers for their questions.

Leadership for the conference includes: Hank Burleson, a representative from the Social Security office, who will be the training leader; Roger Sagoupe, West End representative of Plan Action for San Bernardino County, who will be the chairman for the conference; and Nelson Lortie, a representative of Los Angeles County, who will be serving as a program enabler.

Cost for this training session, including luncheon and registration will be $1.50.

8 Million Suffer From Migraine

By DR. W. P. HELZER, D.C.

Dear Dr. Helzer:

I have been told that migraine headaches cause brain damage. Is this true?

This was a question recently put to me.

My answer read as follows:

"If you suffer from migraine, you have enough trouble without worrying about brain damage—and there is evidence that no brain damage ever results."

Dr. W. P. Helzer, D.C.

Migraine accounts for a frightful number of headaches, and the number of sufferers in the United States alone is estimated at from 2 million to as high as 8 million.

Migraine is the "sick headache" type—classically, on one side of the head, but generally so severe as to leave you no choice but to suffer through it. There is nausea, extreme sensitivity to light, sometimes a disturbance of vision, occasionally head noises and other odd symptoms beside the headache itself.

As many as half the children of migraine sufferers also have this trouble to some extent. It is also observed that sufferers usually are of intense perfectionist types, and periods of stress trigger attacks. In some cases allergy seems to be involved, and some patients say that chocolate bothers them.

In addition, if a person feels himself becoming tense and "all wound up," a deliberate effort to relax and let things slide, instead of maintaining the pressure to accomplish too much, helps.

Knowing these factors can be helpful in avoiding migraines. But, once a migraine has started, there is little to do but rest quietly and try to relax.

Strong drugs should not be used, but staying in a darkened room or covering the eyes with a cloth to shut out light often helps some.

The only truly effective course is to try and prevent these headaches instead of trying to find a remedy after they have started. Specialized chiropractic care is the choice of an ever increasing number of migraine sufferers.

And you know, some of the most thrilling and truly rewarding professional experiences I've had in chiropractic have come when an emigraine sufferer tells me he or she has kicked the migraine habit.

(Note: Dr. Helzer maintains chiropractic offices at 108 East H Street, Ontario, telephone: 983-1711).

Plant deciduous fruit, nut trees

If your offspring think that fresh fruits come from the produce section of the supermarket, and that nuts come vacuum packed or in cellophane bags, now is a good time to set the record straight. February is an excellent time to plant fruit trees and nut-bearing trees. Nurseries have their largest selection of deciduous fruit and nut tree varieties at this time of the year. Visiting the nursery and selecting the trees can be a fun outing for the entire family — and an enlightening experience for the youngsters, who see and learn that they can enjoy harvests of fruits and nuts in their own home garden. If your offspring, however, have never tasted a tree-ripened peach or plum picked right off the tree, they'll be elated with the taste treats. There's nothing to compare with the flavor of garden-grown fruit. If your garden has adequate sun, there is no reason you can't enjoy a crop or two of your favorite fruits. Space is important, of course, but lack of it needn't be a problem, says the California Association of Nurserymen. Grapes can be grown on a fence or against a wall; apples, pears, and figs are often featured as espaliers in narrow planting areas. In addition to being handsome focal points in the landscape, these espaliers offer delightful edible rewards. Nurseries also have semi-dwarf fruit varieties which require less space. It's a rare property that can't accommodate one, or a few, orchard-size trees; the semi-dwarfs, where they thrive, make it possible to plant even more. There are true dwarf trees, too, and these prolific delights are the answer for locations where larger fruit trees won't fit. The dwarfs can be grown in tubs and are decorative as they are productive. It is important to plant fruit and nut varieties adaptable for your climate. Your local nurseryman will offer the varieties best for your area, and if in doubt about a particular fruit or nut variety, check with him. He also can explain which trees are self-fertile (most are) and which varieties require a pollinizer in the neighborhood. Pollinizers enhance fruiting and may be necessary considerations for a few varieties.

Camellias offer varieties

Two very good reasons for selecting and planting camellias, in addition to their many lavish color and shade combinations, are the wide variety of flower forms and plant growth habits.

Basically, camellias are for partially shaded areas. They don't want full sun and sulk in too much shade. Camellias will, however, thrive in semi-sunny garden locations. As long as the exposure is correct, and the soil drainage is good, it doesn't make any difference what landscape challenge exists. There are camellias to fill-the-bill. Some grow in an almost prostrate manner, spreading and willowy in form — such as the sasanqua varieties.

Gladiolus: choosing, growing them

When you say flower bulbs, people immediately think - fall planting - spring bloom, but this is not entirely true for there are numerous bulbs for spring planting and joyous Summer bloom.

Among the spring bulbs you will find your tuberous begonias - very colorful and exciting to grow in pots as well as the shady spot in your garden. Giant dahlias - brilliant color all summer long with flowers of some varieties reaching 12" across on large bushy 5 feet tall plants. Others of interest are the fancy leaf caladiums - noted for their colorful foliage; lilies - exotic, colorful with many bearing a unique fragrance; tigridias; tuberose, etc. etc. Not mentioned above is the gladiolus, America's favorite cut flower, as well as a must for every garden. Each year many new varieties of gladiolus are introduced to the gardening public and this season is no different. To mention a few that are available at most nurseries now through the spring, you will find:

Easter Basket - a lively salmon tri-color.
Happy Face - yellow with heavily ruffled petals and a bold rose picotee edge.

Heather Hill - rich orchid lavender with a cream colored throat, also heavily ruffled petals.

Jazz Age - very different, a medium rose with silver white "zebra stripes" and picotee edging.

Red Lace - bright medium red.

Rose Gem - lightly ruffled "rich-rich" burgundy rose red.
Sunset - Heavily ruffled bright orange petals with a gold center and red blotch.

Gladiolus are very versatile, providing color and enjoyment both indoors and out. As a cut flower, they provide color in your arrangement for many days. For best results you should cut your Glads when 1 to 3 florets are open. Cut early in the morning when the stalks are full of moisture and place them in "deep" cool water. If possible, leave them for several hours before you make your arrangement. When cutting be sure to leave 4-5 leaves on the plant to supply the corm with nutrients for the next season's growth. To keep your arrangement fresh for as long as possible, remove the faded flowers.

"Glads" are very easy to grow and can be used in a number of ways. They will be the most striking if given a place in the sun. For display in borders, bold clumps or groups of plants are best, or if you plant in full beds, you can scatter the bulbs for a natural affect. Of course if you are growing just for cut flowers, the most efficient way is to plant in rows.

Imagine the pleasure of having all of the gladiolus you want blooming continuously week after week for four to six months. You can have armfuls of fresh cut flowers in the home and still maintain a magnificent display in your garden. This can easily be accomplished by making several plantings about 15 days apart. In California, Arizona and other areas not affected by freezes, you can plant from November through May and you will have wave upon wave of thrilling blooms from February through August.
